

WOMEN'S INNER LEADERSHIP

Finding your truth in Love, Sex, Money, Power & Consciousness

WOMEN'S INNER LEADERSHIP PROFESSIONAL COACHING TRAINING (2023-2024)

A TWO-YEAR ONLINE PROGRAMME IN 9-MODULE CYCLES

The first part of the training (Year 1, Modules 1-5) is a personal journey to be centred in a powerful way in your identity as a woman. Only when this process is complete do we move onto professional development (modules 6-9 and Year 2), where we provide you with the skills and knowledge needed to work with clients with high standards and integrity, with the areas covered in modules 1-5.

Personal process and professional development are separated into different modules. By having gone through the process ourselves, we become able to hold an intentional field of transmission for the client and can mirror them from a place of embodied presence. In this way we empower the client to find their own resources, as opposed to having authority and power over them. We hold a nurturing space, one that encourages and grows inner resources, and supports clients to change their difficult experiences by themselves.

 All UK time.

PRE-MODULE INTRODUCTION (28 January 2023)

We lay out the evolutionary calling to Women's Inner Leadership as a response to the changing paradigm and the way of feminine consciousness. Welcome, orientation and connection.

PART 1: PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

Module 1: LOVE (10-12 February 2023)

As we explore the evolutionary, psychospiritual potential of love we also look at the roots of our attachment patterns and how they potentially interfere with our innate knowing. We look at women's social engagement systems and our habitual ways of searching for, responding to and protecting against Love and we learn to step into a new perspective. Loving from an embodied, boundaried and resourced place.

Module 2: Sex (24-26 March 2023)

Looking at our relationship to sex, we explore the multiple emotional agendas we subconsciously attach to our sexual expression. How do we sexualise or desexualise ourselves? What are our fears and our adaptive responses? How is the state of our nervous system connected to our experience of either numbness, pain or pleasure? Learn to rewrite your sexual script so that it's aligned with your inner truth.

Module 3: Money (12-14 May 2023)

We work on deconstructing our subconscious conditioning around money, to replace it with an intentionally healthy, intelligent and sustainable relationship. We look at the self worth/net worth connection, our nervous system response and the way it impacts our micro and macro choices. By applying feminine consciousness we can begin to move beyond the shadows of the global financial paradigm and into a responsible relationship of reciprocity and freedom.

Module 4: Power (16-18 June 2023)

Women's power is about knowing at deep levels who we are, beyond the cultural and paradigmatic conditioning we've inherited. We need to be able to feel and embody the cyclical nature of our deep being. For each of us it requires a heroine's journey at different stages of our life, as we move through Maiden, Mother and Crone, in a continuous life – death – life cycle. While embracing the gifts we also uncover the shadows of what women do to stay in power and the seductive orbit of the narcissist.

Module 5: Consciousness (28-30 July 2023)

We reach the end of the personal journey by working with the feminine field of consciousness. As a foundation we present a map of consciousness that supports us to recognise and integrate our shadows in preparation for bringing our higher qualities to the world. We sharpen our intuition and develop a sense of embodied inner knowing. This solidifies our experience of Women's Inner Leadership as a model for being and acting in the world.

PART 2: PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Here we provide you with the theoretical knowledge and practical skills to be able to work as a coach with the topics of module 1-5. You will start working with practice clients between the modules.

Module 6: PRO 1 (8-10 September 2023)

Using the tri-focal vision of emerging potential, real life challenge and practical coaching steps you learn to approach a client from a place of resource and possibility. You learn essential therapeutic tools of projection, transference and counter-transference, and to distinguish 1st wave and 2nd wave experiences. This enables you to do a thorough client intake session. Ethical Coaching Framework (1-3)

Module 7: PRO 2 (20-22 October 2023)

Introducing the concept of the triune brain you learn about the ladder of nervous system response, our adaptive responses and the sub-personalities we develop in self-protection. This will give the theoretical framework to unpacking the ways in which we express ourselves in all the areas of love, sex, money, power and consciousness. Ethical Coaching Framework (4-6)

Module 8: PRO 3 (1-3 December 2023)

Brain plasticity is one of the most exciting findings of neuroscience. By looking at our default mode network and learning how to create new neural networks by using a body/mind/consciousness approach, we get a powerful tool for transformation. We work with gestalt, embodiment and completion of time pockets. Ethical Coaching Framework (7-9)

Module 9: PRO 4 (12-14 January 2024)

Following on our knowledge about the nervous system response, we add the essential Polyvagal theory that encompasses vagal tone, vagal brake and blended states. Attunement, co-regulation and self-regulation are vital tools you will learn for resourcing and containing emotional affect and trauma. We also cover the neurological pathways of memory and ways of reframing memory.

Small group supervision (x4): dates are to be agreed with your supervisor at the start of the course.

Right Relations

An integrated part of the training are the regular 2-hour Right Relations sessions at the end of each module, where we explore the interpersonal dynamics in the group and bring it back to the professional learning.

TRAINERS & SUPERVISORS

LOUISE MAZANTI

Louise's work is based on her experience as a woman responding to an inner calling that has led her to face the depths of her own being. She has gone through a process of surrender and letting go several times, when her soul was guiding her in new directions.

Her work reflects this journey and holds the depth of psychology and spirituality that invites all levels of human experience, held together by the structured framework of her academic background.

She has a PhD degree and was a professor in art and craft theory. After a spiritual awakening she retrained to become a psychosynthesis counsellor (Pg. Dip) and has added a diploma in 5DL leadership and organisational coaching. She has studied esoteric philosophy, breathwork techniques, consciousness studies, and she's currently training as a transpersonal and integrative supervisor.

The women's coaching program is a continuation of having co-developed and trained professional coaches for a number of years. She runs a private coaching and therapy practice in London and has run workshops internationally, amongst others at the Esalen Institute in California.

She leads an online group exploring the healing potential of group consciousness and a monthly free, public group mediation at the New Moon.

She works with factual entertainment and public service TV and is a consultant in the development of an intimacy and sexual wellness app.

She is the mother of two young men and is expressing her love with them, with her friends and through her work. She loves stillness, reading, writing and all-year nature swimming and her interests are avid in exploring new ways of expressing and facilitating feminine consciousness.

VANESSA DE SMET

Vanessa has a deep passion for life and all its potential. She has built her profession in service to those wanting to come home within themselves, reconnect with their unique path, and speak their authentic voice. She is known for guiding people through challenging topics with her warm and humor-filled, yet 'no bullshit' approach.

Growing up amidst a range of adverse childhood experiences, she left home at 17 and went in search of her place in the world. She was a nomad for 20 years, living in Mongolia, China, and Spain and made a documentary on illegal deforestation in Cambodia. She had a near death experience that had her learn how to walk again during a road trip across Australia. The latter was a clear invitation for a new life. She slowed down, reconnected to her body and returned home to set roots in Belgium.

She went on to train in psychosomatics therapy, holistic pelvic health, arvigo therapy and wheel of consent. In addition to her private practice, giving lectures, workshops and online courses, she co-founded an organisation that brings these embodiment elements into the healthcare industry.

Since becoming a mother in 2020, her focus has increasingly been on empowering new mothers to make informed and embodied choices regarding birth and postpartum care. She set up an educational postpartum platform and started writing her first book on embodied mothering. Next to her projects she enjoys the daily wondrous simplicities with her beloved and their toddler Elvis.

SARA BHAVANI

Bhavani is grounded, passionate, playful. As a child she could usually be found dancing or out somewhere in nature, often both at the same time.

Her early adult life was characterised by European travel, hedonistic parties and chaotic living. It wasn't until she returned to the UK in her early twenties that she realised she'd been running from trauma in her childhood and her healing journey truly began.

Bhavani has followed many paths, having a career in finance whilst exploring her deeper self through learning and teaching practices such as; macrobiotic cooking and philosophy, Osho active meditation techniques, bioenergetics, rebirthing, women's circles, tantra, relationship anarchy and Zen Accounting.

In private practice since 2018, her work is primarily focussed on helping clients resolve sex and intimacy issues, through psychosexual somatics and relationship therapy. Her work includes aspects of; Neuro-Affective Relational Model (NARM), Psychosynthesis, Psychodynamic Counselling and Gestalt. She is also a vaginal steam consultant and is researching the healing benefits in relation to vaginal pain conditions. She holds a Diploma in Integrative Supervision for Individuals and Groups and enjoys supporting the professional development of others in the field.

Bhavani has been married and divorced and raised her two sons into their early adulthood primarily as a single parent. Her extended family now includes her partner and his four sons. Being surrounded by so much masculine energy, and as she approaches menopause and her juicy crone years, she greatly values the time spent sitting in circle with other women, giving and receiving feminine wisdom.
